

APPLY NOW TO JOIN THE 2019 COHORT

Due to popular demand, we have decided to extend the application deadline for the 2019 Emerging Leaders Programme to 7 April 2019. We encourage you to take advantage of this unique opportunity to join a growing community of leaders who are shaping the future of cardiovascular health!

We are seeking a diverse range of candidates from academia, civil society and the private sector, among others. Candidates may be affiliated with a member organization of the World Heart Federation, but this is not mandatory.

This year will mark the sixth year of the World Heart Federation Emerging Leaders Programme, which will focus on heart failure.

All Emerging Leaders participants will be required to participate in online training, a five-day think tank seminar from 13-18 October 2019 in London, UK, and collaborative group work based on proposals developed during the seminar, with seed funding support from the World Heart Federation from meritorious proposals.

This outstanding Programme already includes 123 Emerging Leaders from 48 countries. To learn more about our Emerging Leaders and what they have achieved so far, visit our website. For any further queries or information about the programme, please email us at emergingleaders@worldheart.org.
